Reviewer's report

Title: Dual contraceptive methods for pregnancy and disease prevention among HIV-infected women in South East Nigeria

Version: 4  Date: 8 February 2014

Reviewer: Karl Peltzer

Reviewer's report:

The title says "Dual contraceptive methods for pregnancy and disease prevention..."

Not sure if "dual contraceptive methods" is correct because you refer to the dual purpose pregnancy and disease prevention

The Nigerian PMTCT guidelines, as below, refer to dual method for dual protection

- Promoting condom use combined with a more effective method of contraception (dual method) for dual protection from HIV and other STIs and from unplanned pregnancies as an effective strategy to prevent HIV transmission

So is it "dual or two methods for pregnancy and HIV prevention"

Please, clarify what is meant.

Some website seem not accessible, WHO,...please, check.

Still a number of grammatical errors

Level of interest: An article of importance in its field

Quality of written English: Needs some language corrections before being published

Statistical review: Yes, and I have assessed the statistics in my report.
