Comments to the Author
This study investigated the reproductive health status, knowledge and needs of low-income urban women in China based on a cross-sectional study. It is very useful for improving health services interventions.

1. Authors should give a more detailed data in Tab 4, 5. It is only proportions in it, please show the positive cases or total number.

2. ‘Age’ is an important factor, if authors state the status, compare the difference of reproductive health, knowledge and needs in age group, it may reveal more information.
