Reviewer's report

Title: In vivo activity of Sapindus saponaria against azole-susceptible and -resistant human vaginal Candida species.

Version: 2 Date: 28 January 2011

Reviewer's report:

Although the Authors have not fully complied with the requested revisions, they made a serious effort to consider the importance of the critical issues raised and of them there is now trace in the Results and Discussion. At this stage, I realize their impossibility to reverse their approach completely, as indicated in my previous report. Considering the above effort and the limitations set forth in the revised manuscript, I think the Editor may consider the acceptance of this revised manuscript after careful editing.

The paper must be revised for English usage, possibly at the editorial level
