Version: 2 Date: 22 June 2014

Reviewer: Neda Adibpour

Reviewer's report:

Minor Essential Revisions
1- It is better to report the exact p-values whenever it is possible. The authors just reported the significance of the effect as p-values less than 0.05.
2- Some repeated statements about what the authors have done in their study was placed at the beginning of each section that describe the results of different method of antinociceptive effect assessment e.g. page 8 paragraph 3.
