Reviewer’s report

Title: The use of CAM by women suffering from nausea and vomiting of pregnancy

Authors:

Taras Hollyer (thollyer@ccnm.edu)
Heather Boon (heather.boon@utoronto.ca)
Alexia Georgousis (ageorgousis@ccnm.edu)
Michael J Smith (michael_j_smith-@hc-sc.gc.ca)
Adrienne Einarson (einarson@sickkids.on.ca)

Version: 1 Date: 3 May 2002

Reviewer: Dr J Star

Level of interest: A paper of considerable general medical or scientific interest

Advice on publication: Other (see below)

This study provides insight into the use of CAM therapies, but is limited (acknowledged by the authors) by sample size and demographics of the population.

Compulsory revision:
1) a table describing severity of NVP and previous CAM use (as these are among the predictive factors).

Discretionary revision: (may not be attainable)
2) whether or not the patient had previously consulted a CAM practitioner and whether any discussion about CAM use occurred with their primary care provider.

Competing interests:

None declared.