Reviewer’s report

Title: Comparison of metabolic ratios of urinary estrogens between benign and malignant thyroid tumors in postmenopausal women

Version: 2 Date: 4 September 2013

Reviewer: Roni Falk

Reviewer’s report:

The authors have made substantial revisions to this manuscript which address most of my concerns with the previous version; however, although the writing is much clearer, I advise the editors to carefully review it prior to publication. There are still a number of grammatical errors.

Level of interest: An article whose findings are important to those with closely related research interests

Quality of written English: Needs some language corrections before being published

Statistical review: No, the manuscript does not need to be seen by a statistician.
