Reviewer’s report:

Thank you for the opportunity to review this manuscript. It is a thoughtful way to begin answering some of the questions at the interface of global health, education, curriculum/didactics and research. Please find the attached thoughts for review.

1. Major Compulsory Revisions: NONE

2. Minor Essential Revisions
   a. Consider better outlining and defining specifics of ICI at the University of Toronto (in the methods/study design) - are these opportunities in Central/South America, post conflict Africa, etc?
   b. Consider expanding section on data analysis. While there is a very brief description of how data was coded (through WEIGHT guidelines), readers will likely have to go to resource/citation (#20) to look at methods if not added here

3. Minor Essential Revisions
   - In Methods section of abstract, replacing "Canadians" with job descriptions (physicians, researchers, allied health professionals, etc). This happens a few more times throughout the manuscript.
   - In third paragraph of Background, consider briefly defining concept of "Medical Tourism", as this might not be something that all readership will be familiar with
