Reviewer’s report:

There are some interesting findings in this study. The article is well written and the methodology is sound. The discussion and conclusions are well balanced and adequately supported by the data.

Discretionary Revision:

Authors reported some statistical differences in table 1, however they did not mention anywhere in the article what kind of testing they used.

Level of interest: An article of importance in its field

Quality of written English: Acceptable

Statistical review: Yes, and I have assessed the statistics in my report.
