Reviewer’s report:

The construction of the framework of evaluation is interesting, though the relativity of the categories becomes apparent in the assessment of relative advantage and complexity. I am satisfied that the response to the reviewers has been adequate, and that publication should continue. I will make one observation however: the references to sustainability (1-6) are all ‘big picture’ references and it would be useful to include something that deals with sustainability at project level – which is consistent with the nature of this study. I am attaching five papers that may be useful – please note that I am a co-author in the last two.
