Reviewer's report

Title: Can the feedback of patient assessments, brief training, or their combination, improve the interpersonal skills of primary care physicians? A systematic review

Version: 3 Date: 13 June 2008

Reviewer: Michel Wensing

Reviewer's report:

My re-review is as follows. I have focused only on the responses to my 6 comments. Numbers 1, 2, 4 and 6 have been dealt with adequately.

Regarding point 3 (focus on physicians only), I could not find what has been changed in the manuscript as a response to this comment.

Regarding point 5, I remain a bit worried. If the presentation of the one study that I know could be improved, what does it mean for the other studies? Have the authors checked the accuracy of the data on the other studies as well? From my involvement in an editorial board in a Cochrane group I know that many errors are made in data-extraction from studies.