Title: Survey of patient satisfaction with the Breastfeeding Education and Support Services of The Royal Women’s Hospital, Melbourne

Version: 1 Date: 2 January 2008

Reviewer: Verity Livingstone

Reviewer's report:

This is a small survey that appears to be well written. The survey was designed to address patient satisfaction, it did not specifically measure the effectiveness of the clinic. Based on the findings, almost half of the patients said that they only received partial or little help with their breastfeeding problems. This is a worrisome and the authors should discuss the significance of this finding.
