Reviewer’s report:

I congratulate the authors for the good work they have done with the manuscript. Your current factor analysis is correctly performed which now show a different result.

I would like you to change a little bit in the table reporting these results to make it more easy to read. This can be done by writing the factor loadings you refer to in the result section in bold.

You have commented my questions and I am happy to recommend the paper for publication with the minor revision of the table of the factor analysis.
