Title: More distinct food intake patterns among women than men in northern Sweden: a population-based survey

Version: 3 Date: 8 January 2009

Reviewer's report:

While the authors have addressed some minor comments, they have not included additional data pertaining to the profile of subjects in the various dietary pattern clusters. This was requested by both reviewers and the authors replied that this would be part of another paper.

My opinion is that without this additional information, the paper is of limited interest.
