Title: Using Multiple Household Food Inventories to Measure Food Availability in the Home Over 30 Days: A Pilot Study

Version: 2  Date: 10 March 2010

Reviewer: Amy Gorin

Reviewer's report:

The authors have addressed many of the concerns raised in the previous review. The pilot study makes a clear point that cross-sectional assessments of the home food environment may miss much of the within home variability that occurs in food availability.

Discretionary revisions:

Eleven tables seems excessive. Table 2 on food security can be removed (information is presented in the text) and the other tables may be consolidated a bit.

Level of interest: An article whose findings are important to those with closely related research interests

Quality of written English: Acceptable

Statistical review: No, the manuscript does not need to be seen by a statistician.
