Title: Decentralization of the provision of health services to people living with HIV/AIDS in rural China: The case of three counties

Version: 3 Date: 16 December 2010

Reviewer: Gerald Bloom

Reviewer’s report:

Major Compulsory Revision
The authors have responded to comments on the previous draft. They have drawn attention to the lack of information on the quality of services and stated the knowledge gap the paper will fill. The presentation of findings focuses more on the organisation of the provision of services and the degree to which people have access to the services provided through this decentralised approach.

Discretionary Revisions
These are minor questions of language.
Page 5 line 11 change to “poor rural counties and have…”
Page 9: “It does not assess the drug regimen nor other aspects of the treatment”

Level of interest: An article whose findings are important to those with closely related research interests
