Reviewer's report

Title: Systematic Reviews: A Cross-Sectional Study of Location and Citation Counts

Version: 3 Date: 17 October 2003

Reviewer: Michael Callaham

Reviewer's report:

In any event, I think the authors have satisfactorily addressed all the issues I raised in my review, and in the process dramatically strengthened this paper, particularly in the description of the methodology. The paper should be published and is clearly the definitive study on this topic at this time.

I have only one suggestion and that is regarding the data collection forms and instructions mentioned as available by request in their response to my comments. Since this will be published on the web, I would suggest simply including those as an appendix so that interested readers can review them without having to separately request them.

I congratulate the authors on an interesting study and a lot of hard work.

What next?: Accept after discretionary revisions

Level of interest: An article of importance in its specialized field or of broad interest

Quality of written English: Acceptable

Statistical review: No