Title: The impact of networks on clinical trials in the United Kingdom

Version: 6 Date: 17 September 2009

Reviewer: Diana Elbourne

Reviewer's report:

i think this now reads very much better than the previous version. By relating it to a previous paper in the cancer field in Trials, and commenting on similarities and differences based on a particular UK trial in the neonatal field, it will provide a useful experiential counterpoint for readers.

Level of interest: An article whose findings are important to those with closely related research interests
