  I still think the authors need to include more information about the engagement of LMIC in the section on "Developing a New Consort Statement". I note that that authors have made some amendments. But I am left wondering how the consultation will actually take place? I am assuming from the description of methods that the consensus will occur face to face. How do the authors envisage engaging LMIC participants? Will there be financial support to allow them to attend?

- Discretionary Revisions
  None now from my perspective.
