Reviewer's report

Title: Early intervention program reduces stress in parents of pre-terms during childhood; a randomized controlled trial.

Reviewer's report:

Minor essential
While the authors have stated in their letter that the randomisation sequence was generated by computer, they haven't actually stated this in the revised manuscript.

Minor discretionary
The first reviewer has suggested that the authors add a comment on the clinical implications of their findings, and potentially make some recommendations. I think the authors could be encouraged to do this.
