Title: The Health Disparities Cancer Collaborative: a case study of practice registry measurement in a quality improvement collaborative

Version: 3 Date: 17 February 2010

Reviewer’s report:

In sum, I feel that the authors have responded appropriately to the reviewers’ comments.

Given the limitations of the data, I feel that their focus on the nitty-grittiness of data collection and the limitations of data entry and resource availability at CHCs is appropriate and worthwhile to call to readers’ attention. It points toward larger systems questions as one thinks about designing broadly applicable quality-measurement and performance-incentive structures.
