Reviewer's report:

According to the cover letter, which accompanies this manuscript, the manuscript has been previously peer reviewed. The issues picked up previously have been addressed (abstract structure and addition of a page with figure legends). The manuscript is clearly written and addresses an important topic. While I recommend it is published without further revision I would like to suggest to the authors that, if they replicate this study, they consider adding the duration of the intervention being implemented to the taxonomy as we have found this can be inadequately reported.
