Title: Acute left main coronary artery thrombosis due to cocaine use

Reviewer's report:

Nice and elegant case presentation.
A word of caution though: we should not be as definitive in recommending surgery for all the patients like the one presented, based on case reports. Instead I would use a careful phrasing like "cardiac surgery may be indicated, but treatment options (thrombolysis, PCI or surgery) should be judged on a individual patient basis".
A follow up angiography (?CT) would have strengthen the manuscript.
