Reviewer’s report:

Here is my comments which are identical for editorial board and authors.

"Thank you for the opportunity to re-review Habertheuer's et al. case report. Unfortunately, even after revisions I don't feel that this article provides new knowledge in our specialty with subsequent changes in our clinical practice.

If reviewed under the premise of educational value I would agree with author's opinion that it is important for neurologists and cardiologists to think about this rare condition in their differential diagnosis. Hence, I believe these target groups would be better reached in their respective journals but not through a cardio-thoracic journal."

As described above I cannot recommend to accept this case report in your esteemed journal. Authors English was acceptable.

Kind regards,
