Comments to authors:

This is an interesting case report. Intimal sarcoma is an extremely rare diagnosis and the authors provide a valuable discussion on aspects of diagnosis and management. I would suggest shortening the detailed technical explanations of the ECHO and CT findings. Arrows indicating areas of interest in figure 1 and 3 would be helpful. However, the written English and grammar throughout the manuscript need to be greatly improved.

What next?: Revise and resubmit

Quality of written English: Not suitable for publication unless extensively edited
