Comments to authors:

This is an interesting report of secreting myelolipoma, which is very rare. There are a few comments to the authors.

1) The authors describe the size of the tumor without its weight. If it's available, please add the data.

2) If it's available, please add the more detailed pathological description including photographs.

3) The authors mention the largest adrenal myelolipoma reported in the literature which weighs 6 kg and measures 31x24.5x11.5 cm. The original article of that case should be included in the references section.
