Periodontal disease in a Prader-Willi syndrome patient: a case report

Abstract
Page 2, line 13-14: The sentence “The present treatment has of TBI and scaling...” is not clear.

Case presentation
Page 6, line 17 & 21: The expression of tooth number is based on FDI method, which is different from US method. Please put this information.

There is no definite information on periodontal disease. The reader will understand the situation of disease severity more accurately if pocket depth, clinical attachment level, plaque scores, or anything else during treatment period is provided.
Did the authors examine microbiological profile or immunological activity?

Discussion
Page 10, line 4-7. “Thus, oral ..... and may increase the life expectancy of PWS patients”. The last part of this sentence (“increase the life expectancy”) might be exaggerated expression.

Reference
No.13 “Nature Genet” or “Nat Genet” might be better instead of “Nature genet”.
