This is an interesting case but not rare.
human bites to the lip have been reported elsewhere.
good summary of management given.

change title to: An interesting presentation of traumatic wound on the lower lip: Case Report typo error:

page 6: The fact that most of the patients have GOOD healing of the wounds after primary sutures is because of the good blood supply in the facial region which increases the host resistance [5]. should read GOOD healing.

Figure 1. Clinical Image: A human bite injury. Notice the SEVERE lip tissue defect mimicking an ulcerative chronic process. should read SEVERE.
