Reviewer’s report

Title: One case of pregnancy with complete endocardial cushion defects

Version: 1
Date: 27 November 2013

Reviewer: Valerie Schroeder

Which of the following best describes what type of case report this is?: Other

If other, please specify:

This is a rare and severe presentation. Patients with severe heart defects are usually identified early and are repaired. Few go un-repaired. Even fewer become pregnant. In decades past, the prognosis of such patients was poor. However, in the modern era, we can do more to help. I suspect that readers might benefit from learning about a modern approach to an old and rare problem.

Has the case been reported coherently?: Yes

Is the case report authentic?: Yes

Is the case report ethical?: Yes

Is there any missing information that you think must be added before publication?: Yes

Is this case worth reporting?: Yes

Is the case report persuasive?: No

Does the case report have explanatory value?: Yes

Does the case report have diagnostic value?: No

Will the case report make a difference to clinical practice?: Yes

Is the anonymity of the patient protected?: No

Comments to authors:

Please remove the data of admission. In some countries, this is a breach of confidentiality to list this information.

Quality of written English: Needs some language corrections before being published
Declaration of competing interests:

None to disclose