Reviewer's report:

I think and do feel that the authors need to address one issue. The authors have used the term "analytic framework" in their manuscript and also the term "program(me) theory". I am not clear what the differences or similarities are between these two concepts. I have attached my comments on this issue in their manuscript.

There are a few typos, but other than the issue above, I did not feel that much else that needs to be dealt with.

The authors need to address this issue of "analytic framework" vs. "programme theory" before I can make any further recommendation.
