Title: Optimal Blood Pressure Control for Patients after Thoracic Endovascular Aortic Repair of Type B Aortic Dissection

Version: 0  Date: 19 Apr 2019

Reviewer: Rajeev Sudhakar

Reviewer's report:

Blood pressure control after TEVAR in patients with Stanford type B aorta dissection is an important question for research. Introduction is solid but please address the question about why a BP cutoff of 130 mm Hg was chosen instead of a lower cutoff 120 mm Hg which is also suggested in some studies.

Also not able to monitor BP variability which provides more insight into overall BP control as outpatient is also a limitation of the study. Please mention this in the limitations section.
