REVIEWER COMMENTS FROM REPORT: This is a well constructed and written paper on an interesting topic (sample size in qualitative studies). The authors have used a systematic manner to examine the issue. I enjoyed reading the paper and the findings of the paper. The discussion section is appropriate and related to the existing evidence.

The limitations are appropriately identified, specifically that the paper examined only 3 specific journals. The authors may wish to briefly state why they selected these areas of study in the methods section. My other suggestion is whether the word count of the paper is too large for most peer-review journals.

REQUESTED REVISIONS:

The paper is well designed, written and explained. I have no other issues with this paper.
