Title: Patient recruitment strategies for adaptive enrichment designs with time-to-event endpoints

Version: 1 Date: 10 Apr 2019

Reviewer: Jose Pinheiro

Reviewer's report:

The authors have addressed in the revised manuscript most of the concerns and suggestions indicated in the original review, but the central one persists: if adaptive enrichment designs are already implemented in practice without halting recruitment (to wait for enough data to be available for the enrichment decision), what is the practical issue the paper is trying to address? Perhaps the goal is just exploring the impact of halting vs. not-halting recruitment in an adaptive enrichment design, but that's more of academic interest than of practical impact.
