Reviewer's report:

Thank you for the opportunity to review the manuscript "How to measure the need for transition to adult service among young people with Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD): a comparison of surveillance versus case note review methods". The transition to adult service for individuals of ADHD is of relevance across countries, not only in the UK. Therefore, this study is highly interesting and relevant for an international audience of clinicians and researchers. The authors provide a thorough and relevant background for their study and the methods used for calculating the need for such a transition of service. All in all, this is a very well-written and interesting study.
