Reviewer's report:

Dear Authors, thank you for addressing my comments. I am satisfied with the revisions in the manuscript which reads much better now. However, there remain a couple of issues:

1. Table 3 is still presented before table 2.

2. Discussion: With regards to sentence on novelty of the paper, use of 'health system' is too generic. Also, there are many online interventional studies that have addressed quality improvement and sustainability. I suggest rewording the sentence to be more specific, along the lines of - 'this is the first published study to address use of an online educational program towards sustainable quality improvement of blood pressure measurement in primary care'.
