Title: Life-Threatening Bleeding from Gastric Dieulafoy's Lesion in A Pregnant Woman with HELLP Syndrome: A Case Report and Literature Review

Version: 0 Date: 04 Mar 2017

Reviewer: Sung-Shuo Kao

Reviewer's report:

1. This is a good report of a patient with Dieulafoy's lesion bleeding and consequent HELLP syndrome.

2. However, the diagnosis of HELLP syndrome may be influenced by other factors. In patients with severe blood loss, sometimes low platelet and coagulopathy may occur temporarily. Besides, in patients with shock status, ischemic hepatitis or liver injury may also occur. Anemia is not equal to hemolysis. If the author could offer the evidence of hemolysis, such as elevated bilirubin or decreased haptoglobin, the diagnosis of HELLP syndrome will be more convincing.

3. Otherwise, the case report is worthwhile for publication.
