Title: Symptoms and Diagnostic criteria of Acquired Megacolon - A systematic literature review

Version: 0 Date: 30 Dec 2017

Reviewer: Ivano Biviano

Reviewer's report:

The study is a good tentative to better define acquired megacolon in the absence of organic disease. In literature they well designed studies are missing. The authors evaluate case series, cohort and case reports studies and in many of these the sample size was small, and the studies were heterogeneous. In this condition is not possible to define conclusive diagnostic criteria, but this systematic literature review may be an initial way to better describe this condition.
