Title: Vitamin K deficiency-induced hemorrhagic shock after thoracentesis: A case report

Version: 0 Date: 26 Feb 2018

Reviewer: I. Michael Leitman

Reviewer's report:

This is a single case report of a patient that developed diet and antibiotic induced vitamin K dependent coagulopathy. Pleural drainage via thoracentesis was deemed to be necessary and caused hemothorax. The findings were not documented by a specific laboratory test. The case report is not sufficient novel to merit publication
