Title: Imaging Findings for Pancreatic Hamartoma: two case reports and a review of the literature

Version: 1 Date: 22 Jan 2020

Reviewer: Amy Tyberg

Reviewer's report:

The authors have responded sufficiently to all previous comments. The English of the manuscript is much improved! And the conclusion now reflects the importance of these cases.

My only remaining critique is the sentence (under Case 1): "The pancreatic neuroendocrine tumor was initially diagnosed as another benign tumor." I'm not clear what this means - was the lesion felt to be a neuroendocrine tumor which turned out to be a misdiagnosis after the histology was reviewed from surgical resection? Is that why the patient opted for surgical resection? Was neuroendocrine tumor in the differential?
