Reviewer's report:

Congratulations on an excellent paper. It was a pleasure to read. I have a couple of suggestions for you to consider including. Some discussion about the need for further work to explore culture/ethnicity (I note only one person did not speak English at home). One would expect health literacy to also play a part and future work could consider exploring that (I note that you included education levels and that only one person was educated to only primary school level). Future work could also explore cohort specific differences in more detail. Also, a typo on p3 line 19: should be 'review' rather than 'reviews'.
