Please write a response to a response letter which is easier to track changes.

Please proofread the article before resubmitting it. There seems a lot of grammatical errors throughout the text.

On page 3 line 19, there is no verb in the sentence.

It is still unclear to me why authors hypothesized increased attention and upper limb function after the treatment in people with MCI compared to healthy controls. Wouldn't that be expected healthy controls have greater cognitive capacity and might have better outcomes on cognitive and motor skills?

What was the frequency and length of the intervention?

Page 8 line 3: That sentence is not completed.
