I believe that the authors have addressed all my concerns about this paper including the potential influence of various confounders. I believe this paper is a useful addition to the literature in this field especially given the caveats that are well outlined in the article. It is unlikely that better data for a pediatric population will be available in the near future to better address this question. I think this paper deserves publication in its current (revised) form.

Are the methods appropriate and well described?
If not, please specify what is required in your comments to the authors.
