Reviewer's report:

Dear Authors,

Thank you very much about your manuscript which have been submitted to BMC Infectious Diseases.

The case was very interesting about the pathogenesis of Ewingella americana in human subject.

There was well selectetion and well formulation of scientific hypothesis, well controlled to the submitted manuscript above, but there was insufficient information regarding Background, would you kindly please, add some previous studies, some arguments to E. americana, its pathogenicity, lab diagnosis, we noticed that there was less information to this bacteria as well as it was discovered in 1983.

The method was well described and well controlled. The Discussion was suggested and includes information and reports. The conclusion was drawn adequately supported by the data shown, thank you.
