Title: Automatic Glioma Segmentation Based on Adaptive Superpixel

Version: 0 Date: 22 May 2019

Reviewer: Junaid Ahmed

Reviewer's report:

Well written article which is quite relevant in its field. However, the article gives a sense of a technically inclined article rather than a scientifically inclined one. For example, the authors could have stressed more on the clinical aspects of Glioma and its association with this new technique in terms of early diagnosis or prognosis. Also, the Methodology and Result Sections are quite extensive but sadly there is no Discussion on comparison on the different types of segmentation or its uses in detection and Management of Gliomas.
