Title: The (FTO) gene polymorphism is associated with metabolic syndrome risk in Egyptian females: a case-control study

Version: 0  Date: 11 Jul 2017

Reviewer: María Teresa Tusié Luna

Reviewer’s report:

The paper has been revised. In general the authors have been responsive to the previous comments and the manuscript is much improved. I was particularly happy to see the inclusion of more subjects which increased the sample size and the statistical power. Also, the statistics and results section are greatly improved. I don't have any more comments.
