Title: Chronic Dialysis, NAT2 Polymorphisms, and the Risk of Isoniazid-Induced Encephalopathy - Case Report and Literature Review

Version: 0 Date: 08 Jul 2017

Reviewer: Mitchell Rosner

Reviewer's report:
This is a very interesting case and one that should be of interest to readers. A couple of thoughts:

1. I think it might be important to mention that many ESRD patients receive INH for positive PPD testing during transplant workup as prophylaxis. Thinking about toxicity in this setting is seldom thought about

2. I do wonder about the recommendation of lowering INH doses as mentioned in the conclusions- what effect might that have on efficacy? Can the authors add more detail to this recommendation?

Are the methods appropriate and well described?
If not, please specify what is required in your comments to the authors.
Yes

Does the work include the necessary controls?
If not, please specify which controls are required in your comments to the authors.
Yes

Are the conclusions drawn adequately supported by the data shown?
If not, please explain in your comments to the authors.
Yes
Are you able to assess any statistics in the manuscript or would you recommend an additional statistical review?

If an additional statistical review is recommended, please specify what aspects require further assessment in your comments to the editors.
