Title: Report of a recurrent cerebral venous thrombosis in a young athlete

Version: 1 Date: 23 July 2014

Reviewer's report:

The authors report the patient with a recurrent cerebral venous thrombosis in a young athlete. This is a relatively unusual case, but for publication, following issues should be clarified.

Major compulsory Revisions:
1. As we know, 7.4% of cases of CVT were associated with cancer. The case report did not exclude the cause of cancer. It need further clarify.

2. Could you please check the language of manuscript for readability? I think the writing is not acceptable and suitable for a scientific, peer-reviewed journal. So not suitable for publication unless extensively edited.

3. Discussion section, third paragraph is not clear, it need be rewritten.
