Title: Cross-cultural adaptation of the Stroke Action Test for Italian-speaking people.

Version: 3 Date: 18 February 2015

Reviewer: Howard Kirshner

Reviewer's report:

I found the paper generally straightforward, well documented, and clearly written. My only recommendation for major revision is that the paper could be significantly shortened by showing more of the data in tables, since the points are very clear: the translation in Italian was reliable and gauged people’s understanding of stroke about as well as the English version.

There is a critical typo on P. 3, "calling 991". I wonder if the test subject would be marked wrong if they said that they would dial that number.
