Reviewer’s report

Title: Utility of somatosensory evoked potentials in the assessment of response to IVIG in a long-lasting case of chronic immune sensory polyradiculopathy.

Version: 0 Date: 09 May 2017

Reviewer: Mohammad Salajegheh

Reviewer’s report:

A. GENERAL
The authors present a case report with a very elegantly done study, with practical implications. The strength of their case report is of their careful analysis of SSEP changes in response to therapy and that it can be used as guide for timing treatment.

B. Materials and Methods:
1. Given that this is a case report, the authors could not really do reliable statistical analysis. Irrespective of this, did the authors perform correction for multiple comparisons when reporting their p values?

C. RESULTS

1. Page 9, Line 22: this is a case report and not a case control study. They also cannot "assume" what an increase in sample size may shows and this needs to be removed.

Are the methods appropriate and well described?
If not, please specify what is required in your comments to the authors.

Yes

Does the work include the necessary controls?
If not, please specify which controls are required in your comments to the authors.

No

Are the conclusions drawn adequately supported by the data shown?
If not, please explain in your comments to the authors.

Yes

Are you able to assess any statistics in the manuscript or would you recommend an additional statistical review?
If an additional statistical review is recommended, please specify what aspects require further assessment in your comments to the editors.
I recommend additional statistical review
