I think this work by the authors is quite relevant and important in the field of Myasthenia. Some of the side effect burden in this patient group was likely underestimated for many years.

Refractory or non refractory status has many different definitions and I am glad authors have defined on how this was used in this study.

Can authors verify that antibody status were not verified in this study? and IVIG use was only patient reported and there was no further external validation.

Antibody status is relevant because symptoms burden may wary between AChR and MuSK antibodies.

Are the methods appropriate and well described?
If not, please specify what is required in your comments to the authors.

Yes

Does the work include the necessary controls?
If not, please specify which controls are required in your comments to the authors.

I have served on advisory board meeting for Alexion and I noticed that one of the authors works for Alexion. I do not know the author or previously knew any information about this study.
