Version: 1 Date: 26 Dec 2019

Reviewer's report:

The authors properly responded to comments and revised the manuscript. I am hoping to express the authors' endeavors. One point of my comment was not properly responded for statistical analyses. The authors responded that the statistical analyses were conducted by an experienced statistician but did not described the theoretical background. I think that additional responses based on statistical background is needed. The authors responded that regression analyses were unavailable owing to nature of variables. However, logistic regression analyses were possible by using dichotomized variables.
